About Lundgren & Young

Every organization starts somewhere; ours started as a small independent insurance brokerage in Calgary. From the first policy sold and the first employee hired the company has consistently taken a different approach from its competitors. We arrange insurance coverage for our customers based on their needs, not ours. We quote policies with the best coverage available from the companies that want to write the kind of business we are quoting. Juggling the coverage, the premium and the needs of all parties into a win win situation is our specialty. The customer wins with the best policy and rate for his needs, the company wins with the kind of customer they want to write, we win with the benefit of loyalty and respect in the way we put our insurance programs together for both our customers and our companies.

Putting successful programs like this together requires special people. The kinds of people who believe that if they put the best interests of their customers ahead of themselves, they will achieve the best returns for themselves. If anything describes this company best it is its fundamental belief that by doing the best job possible for its customers, it will meet its needs and those of its company partners as well as itself. Lundgren and Young Insurance Ltd. has grown from a small company in 1983 to a large major player in Alberta today. Our unique method of taking care of our customers and our employees will ensure our continued success in the years to come. You need to experience our dedication to meeting your needs

Why Choose a Broker?

Insurance is a complicated commodity. There are minimum legal requirements for certain kinds of coverage and there are minimum kinds of coverage for certain kinds of things and there are things that you can't get coverage for. The rules are constantly changing and to stay on top of what is the best that can be done for your circumstances at the best possible price, you need an insurance broker to look after your insurance needs. The insurance broker invests the time necessary to learn what kinds of insurance customers the insurance companies want. Matching the insurance customer with the company that wants to insure those kinds of customers results in a good rate for the customer and a good customer for the insurer. It isn't any more complicated than that!

You need help making your insurance decisions. You need to know that what you have purchased will meet your needs. You need to know that what you purchased meets the legal requirements. You need to know that the people working for you by choice put your interests ahead of theirs. That is what brokers do! Choose a broker and you will find them dedicated to meeting your needs not theirs. It is how we judge each other in front of our customers and those who don't meet our own standards are separated from the business we do. Choose a broker; they will work for you before their own interests. It is what we do.
